Overview

The school's approach to, and the content of, its sex and relationships teaching will be differentiated appropriately to reflect the different ages and levels of maturity of the pupils being taught. In this school effective sex and relationship education is seen to be essential if young people are to make responsible and well informed decisions about their lives. It will not be delivered in isolation. It will be firmly rooted within PSHE and the curriculum. It will be part of lifelong learning about physical, moral and emotional development. It will be about the understanding of the importance of marriage for family life, stable and loving relationships, respect, love and care. It will also be about the teaching of sex, sexuality, and sexual health. It is not concerned with the promotion of sexual orientation or sexual activity.

Objectives

1. To help and support young people through their physical, emotional and moral development.
2. To help young people learn to respect themselves and others and move with confidence from childhood, through adolescence, into adulthood.
3. To help learners develop the skills and understanding they need to live confident, healthy and independent lives.
4. To help learners understand and deal with difficult moral and social questions.
5. To help learners understand the importance of marriage for family life, stable and loving relationships, respect, love and care.

Strategies

1. The governing body and head teacher will involve parents in developing and reviewing our Sex and Relationship Education policy to ensure that this policy reflects parents' wishes and the culture of the community we serve
2. Learners will be taught about the nature and importance of marriage for family life and bringing up children. Learners will also be taught that there are strong and mutually supportive relationships outside marriage.
3. Learners will be taught the significance of marriage and stable relationships as key building blocks of community and society.
4. Care will be taken to ensure that there is no stigmatisation of children based on their home circumstances.

5. Learners will be given accurate information. This will help when developing skills to enable them to understand difference, respect for themselves and others. This process is also essential in preventing and removing prejudice
6. Sex and relationship education will contribute to the promotion of the spiritual, moral, cultural, mental and physical development of pupils at school and of society. It will prepare pupils to meet the opportunities, responsibilities and experiences of adult life.
7. Sex and relationship education will not encourage early sexual experimentation. It should teach young people to understand human sexuality and to respect themselves and others.
8. It will enable young people to mature, to build up their confidence and self-esteem and to understand the reasons for delaying sexual activity. It will help them to acquire the knowledge and skills which are so vital in preparing them to face the many conflicting pressures on young people in today's society.
9. There will be a graduated, age-appropriate, programme of sex and relationship education. Teaching methods will take account of the developmental differences of children.

Outcomes

Effective sex and relationship education will be achieved through a whole-school approach which will ensure that the school's policy and educational programme is tailored to the age and physical and emotional maturity of the children. Staff will be given appropriate training and support to carry out their work sensitively. The school nurse will work in collaboration with the teaching team to deliver the Year 6 growing up talk before transferring to High School. Parents will have the option of withdrawing their child/ren from this.
